HENS PARTY GAMES

- HOW WELL DOES THE BRIDE KNOW HER FUTURE HUBBY?

Create a list of questions about the groom (get the answers off the groom before hand) to test the brides knowledge. Make sure to mix up the questions with both easy and hard questions. At the end of the questions ask the groom how many questions he thinks the bride will get right, then compare at the end of the game! Let's hope it's more than what the groom thinks!

- BRIDAL Pictionary

You'll need: large sheets of paper, marker pens, jar or bowl for this game. Split the group into teams (create some fun team names), the head bridesmaid should think of as many words relating to weddings (rings, church, flowers, etc), and write them on individual small pieces of paper to put into the bowl. Someone starts from selecting a word from the bowl without showing anyone and starts to draw it for their team. The team must try and guess correctly in the selected time frame (30 or 60sec) to get the point. If they are unable to guess the other team can try and guess to steal the point. The team that guess the most wins!

- POST IT NOTE GAME

This is a great opportunity to make the bride blush! You will need a pad of large pink post it notes and pens to write with. To play give everyone a post it note and ask them to write a sweet, funny, or an embarrassing memory they have of the hen. Then stick them all to a hard surface, the hen now starts picking them one by one reading the notes. She has to try and guess correctly who has written the note, what the note refers to and then proceed to give the story behind the memory out loud.

MORE GAMES

- PIN THE HOSE ON THE FIREMAN

Remember that childhood game, pin the tail on the donkey? Well this one has a bit of an adult twist, as you'll be pinning a 'hose' to a fireman. Whether it's a cartoon drawing or a saucy photo of a real fireman is up to you! You will need a blindfold, a fireman poster, a 'hose' photo cut out, blue tack, and a naughty prize for the winner!

- WHAT'S IN YOUR PURSE

No props required, everyone can get involved in this one, just ask every girl to be happy to share the contents of their bag. A very simple game, each item will have a score (that you can choose at the start of the game). The girl with the highest score in their bag wins. A few examples:

- Mobile phone (5 points)
- Tweezers (7 points)
- Condom (20 points)
- Spare pair of underwear (30 points)

- HENS NIGHT SCAVENGER HUNT

This is the perfect pre-evening games before the big night ahead or better yet bring the list with you to do whilst you are out on the town! The list can be found on our website so all you have to do is print it out, take documentation proof in the terms of photos and have fun completing as many tasks on the list!

- DESIGNER TOILET PAPER WEDDING DRESS

A well known game, and for good reason, this one will be sure to bring lots of laughs! Split the group into small teams and give every team 5 minutes to create a wedding dress out of toilet paper, with one team member from each group giving a performance at the end showcasing the teams hard work. The bride gets to choose the winning team!

MORE GAMES

- NEVER HAVE I EVER

A game I'm sure you've played before, 'Never Have I Ever' is the perfect fun hens game to get everyone in the mood for the night...and to find out some dirty little secrets about each other! To play: players take turns completing the phrase "Never Have I Ever..." (had sex on a beach, fallen asleep at a party, etc) and anyone that has done it must drink! If you have to drink you must go into detail of the story!

- TWO TRUTHS AND A LIE

A good ice breaker game and to find out some interesting facts about everyone. How to play: each player must introduce herself and then tell the group three things about herself- two truths and one lie. The other players must guess which statement was false (they can quiz the "liar" for more information on each statement), after everyone has guessed the "liar" must confess to her lie. If you want to make it more interesting every player that guessed incorrectly must take a shot!

- Example: "My first kiss was when I was 12, I failed my drivers 3 times before I got it, I hardly go to the beach because I hate the sand between my feet."

- BANNED WORDS HENS PARTY GAME

Like the name suggests is all about banning words! A simple and easy game to play, simply pick the most common word that everyone uses. For example; wedding, cheers, the grooms name, etc. Anyone that utters any of the banned words is fined on the spot with either an exciting hen party dare or a nasty penalty shot! This is a game you can start the night with and continue through as you play other games.

Hens Night Decorations

USE THIS LIST TO GET SOME IDEAS

♥ DECORATION IDEAS:

- The Bride to Be Headpiece: Dress up the bride is a must do! Mini bridal veils, a glitzy tiara, bridal sass and perhaps a penis necklace are always popular!
- The night time dare list: Get every Hen to write down a night mission for the bride to be! Think of naughty, exciting and entertaining- or just use our pre-made list!
- The Accessories: Thread some lollies onto a necklace, then enlist random willing males to remove the lollies from the bride's neck...with their teeth!
- A bit of burlesque: Add a hint of naughty to the Hen's outfit to make her feel sexy and daring! A feather boa, or sexy garter to add to her outfit.
- A blow-up sexy doll: Of course he's the only male allowed at the party! The best part? He's naked...why not add it to the mission list...'carry him around all night'.
- X-rated essentials: Naughty accessories and penis shaped paraphernalia are a must have at all Hens nights! Penis straws and lollypops, blow ups, and anything cheeky!
- A designated photographer: Photos are very important! You will need proof of the crazy night that is about to happen! But remember what happens on the hens stays on the hens right? So if one of your girls is less likely to down 10 champagnes make her the iPhone official photographer- then she can share them all the next day with the group.
